the burning building, which was reflected in the sky and on the big downtown buildings, attracted a large crowd to the scene of the fire. The Airdome audience quit in a body, but the show was almost over anyhow. Fire lines were stretched along Stanton street from Overland and the night police force and fire police were assembled to keep the crowd back from the burning building. The people collected at each end of the block on Stanton and in the vacant lot opposite the burning warehouse; also on the streets in the rear. The fire patrol was in charge of chief I. N. Davis and night captain Lon Garner and was the best pairol that has ever been kept at a fire in El Paso.

Being just one block from the red light reservation, were there in their tawdy finery, adding a touch of night life to the scene. The fire was one of the most spectacular since the hurning of the Calisher building. When the roof fell in, flames and sparks seemed to leap a mile in the air. A shower of sparks fell into the Burton-Lingo lumber yard a block in the rear, but private watchmen say that nothing took fire.

Spectacular Features.

The big, red automobile fire engine pounded away in front of the fire station and the old Central station steamer throubsed at the corner of Stanton and First streets. The firemen in their red, metal hemlets and the chief in his white coat and hat dodged in and out of the fire ines. It all added to the spectacular effect. A car load of poultry was sidetracked on the south side of the building and there was a smell of singed feathers and promise of roasted chicken until a T. & P. white engine pulled the car out of the danger zone. It than rescued another car on the other side of the street next to the Alman place. Sparks rained on the adjoining building and it was thought that the Alman building might catch, but it was saved.

Loses $1500 Worth,

Mrs. Thomas C. Van Epps lost $1500 worth of furniture.

Mrs. J. H. Stapleton is also said to have lost a quantity of household goods, which she had recently stored in the warehouse.

Walls Are Wrecked.

The ruined walls were wrecked Friday morning by the fire department by the use of blocks and tackles. The southeast corner was pulled at noon after repeated efforts to wreck

Owned by Austin Woman. The building which burned was owned by Mrs. Attilia Hancock, of Austin, Tex. It was built 10 years ago by Mrs. H. M. Bell and her son, Frank Bell, and was first occupied by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company until two years ago. Frank Bell then opened a storage warehouse there until it was sold by A. P. Coles & Brus. opened a storage warehouse there until it was sold by A. P. Coles & Bros. for Mrs. Bell to J. M. Wyatt. The El Paso Storage Warehouse company was then organised and managed by Frank Smith until it was sold by Mr. Wyatt to E. L. Peyton, the present owner of the building. The value of the building is given as $30,000 and the contents are entimated by Mr. Peyton to have been worth $20,000, making a total estimated loss of $50,000. Mrs. Hancock had $18,000 worth of insurance on the building in the Austin & Marr agency and E. L. Peyton carried $6000 worth of insurance on the fixtures and stock in the same agency. The other losses, including stored furniture and food products are not known, as they are carried mostly by people of the city.

Has No Complete Invoice.

Mr. Peyton was unable to give a completed invoice of the contents Friday morning. The cold storage in the basement had only a car of beans, a quantity of condemned milk and many day morning. The cold storage in a basement had only a car of beans, a quantity of condemned milk and many cases of sardines. The estimated loss on this is fixed at $4000. H. L. Howelf had a real estate office on the first floor but succeeded in saving most of this furniture. Ice boxes on the first floor contained meat products, two cars of cuffee, two cars of flour belonging to Peyton, an ice box filled with refrigerator products belonging to J. B. Watson, and Mr. Peyton's office fixtures, J. B. Watson lost $1500, Peyton $1200 on the flour and the total estimated loss on this floor was $15.000. The second floor had household goods stored there, more coffee, canned meats and four planos. This loss is estimated at $5000 by Mr. Peyton. The third and fourth floors were used for furniture storage and no accumate estimate can be made on the contents, as it was owned mostly by people in Mexico and in the army and was not involced when it was stored.

Mr. Peyton believes that the fire conthe fire is that it started from a match he says B. W. Badgeley, a chemist at the smelter, who moved here recently from Perth Amboy, N. J., and who had his furniture stored there, was examing the boxes belonging to him Thursday afternoon on the second floor. A Mexican was assisting him, Mr. Peyton says. He believes a match was dropped by one of the two men and that this set fire to the packing. The blaze went to the ceiling and the Central department was called and extinguished the blaze.
